EDHEC Climate Research Conference 2026

Climate Risk and Business Resilience: From Science to Strategic Action

23 June 2026 — One Birdcage Walk, London

“
How can science-based tools and research-driven insights redefine the way investors, regulators, and businesses assess, model, and manage climate risks to build more resilient economies?

Be Seen. Be Heard.

Be a Partner During London Climate Action Week 2026.

The EDHEC Climate Research Conference, hosted by the EDHEC Climate Institute, takes place at the height of London Climate Action Week – a moment when global leaders, investors, and policymakers converge to drive climate action. Sponsoring this event positions your organisation as a champion of science-based, strategic leadership – turning climate intelligence into measurable impact. The conference will present original research, data-driven case studies, and scientific tools addressing the financial materiality of climate risk – from hyperlocal physical impacts to transition dynamics and regulatory frameworks.

Key Questions

- How can climate risks – both physical and transition – be clearly defined and assessed for their true financial materiality?
- How can transition risk modelling evolve beyond carbon pricing to include geopolitics, Scope 3 emissions, and reputational pressures?
- How can probabilistic, scenario-based metrics strengthen climate transition planning?
- How can EDHEC Climate Institute research improve the modelling of regional and sectoral climate impacts?
- What science-based tools can help investors embed resilience strategies into financial frameworks?
- How can these tools and insights influence regulation and investment decisions toward more climate-resilient markets?

Why Sponsor?

Becoming a sponsor offers your organisation a unique opportunity to:

- Position your brand alongside one of Europe's leading climate-finance research initiatives.
- Align with authoritative research and tools developed by ECI.
- Engage stakeholders in climate finance and policy—investors, corporates, regulators, researchers.
- Show thought leadership in advancing science-based approaches to climate resilience.
- Demonstrate your commitment to actionable climate solutions.
- Amplify your visibility across academic, industry, and public audiences.

Your support helps bridge the gap between research and real-world impact, reinforcing the role of data, science, and innovation in building climate-resilient economies.
